

Title: Revisiting the first CITE Journal and the state of promoting and preparing teachers to use technology in the content areas.

Authors: John Lee, Marshall George, Joe Garofalo, John Park, David Slykhuis

Abstract: This session will present four new versions of the very first articles accepted into the CITE journal examining the state and role of technology in pre-service teacher education. We will examine what has and has not changed in the last 15 years as well as envisioning where we may be headed in the next 15 years. We invite your participation in helping us to form the final versions of the updated CITE articles.
