Get the latest scoop on the online learning landscape across all 50 states in the USA – plus emerging trends and important policies. A national and global perspective on the trends in education, expectations for students, and what strategies countries, states and schools need to have in place will be provided. Online learning is providing a revolution across the globe for the best teachers to reach the most remote students. All schools can deliver on the promise that every student should have access to the best education available regardless of their neighborhood or geography, and online learning offers a solution for expanding opportunities, global collaboration and 21st century skills.
